Father Darkleaf

by c. h. r.

The hereinafter is a truthful account of a little experience we had on our latest vacation trip.

We had just breezed over from South Carolina into North Carolina, heading home to Appomattox. It was raining and we were aiming at getting some miles behind us. Mother Brightleaf was driving, and, to help me, of a sudden, the motor went cut off and stopped. It just sort of gave up the ghost! I knew we had plenty of gas. We managed to drift in to opposite a country store: no service station. I went in and asked if anyone around was able to help us. "Pop" says that he knows nothing about cars, and that the nearest telephone is five miles away, the nearest mechanic seven miles. Well! There were two of us sort of "leaning" over the counter, and upon my desperate request "Silas" (not his real name) agrees to "take a look. All in the morning rain. Silas gets the hood up, sees nothing wrong, and guesses that our coils are burned out, or maybe the condenser. That is a "check" to me, ignorant as I am about what makes a car work. Silas says we would have to walk five miles, phone in for a mechanic and he would come down when he could get there go back the 17 miles to get a part, and so on! Gee, and nervous to Betsy. Right there and then, Old Darkleaf decides to become a mechanic. We suggested to Silas that we "trace" the power in the set, from the battery, and try to find a stoppage. Silas says that is a good idea, and we wound up with the "dead spot" at what turned out to be distributor points. We got that contraption loose, and Silas has a burned out "point." But, to get a new one? It turned out that Pop kept some parts in a cigar box filing system, and in the cigar box, we found just what we needed. But Silas had lost the knack of holding the point on: he had one in his mouth for safekeeping, but had lost the other one. A half hour later we stole a screw off some gadget or other that Pop had under a counter, and got the part in. Hooked it all up, and, so help me, the motor took off like a rear! Silas jumbled two feet in the air, in his elation, and some how I jumped four feet, rain and all. The thing-um-bob worked perfectly—and still is.

HOMEMAKER'S ITEMS

Some homemakers have a comic-strip approach to shopping. They eye catching gadgets for no really good reason. Or they may be fall guys for fast-talking salesmen.

Mrs. Ocie J. O'Brien, home economist at VPI, says many utensils and tools on the market help save time and work in preparing and serving food. But others just "clutter." Before you buy, ask yourself these questions: Will it fill a need in my home? Will it help me to do the task better or more easily? Will I use it often enough to justify the purchase? Is the cost reasonable in proportion to usefulness? Is it designed for durability and ease of cleaning? Do I have convenient storage space for it? Can I afford it? Mrs. O'Brien has several suggestions for using certain utensils and tools.

Standard measuring cups and spoons are a "must" for correct recipe proportions. You need measuring cups for both liquid and dry ingredients. And standard measuring spoons are useful.

Mixing bowls come in various sizes and may be made of glass, pottery, aluminum, or stainless steel. For easy mixing and beating, the bowl should have a rounded bottom. You can select heat proof glass or pottery bowls they can serve as serving dishes, and the small mixing bowls can do double-duty as refrigerator dishes.

Flour sifters are available in several sizes. Those designed for one-hand operation are helpful when adding flour into the batter while mixing.

If you do have an accident, investigate the cause, and profit by the experience.

Appomattox is is a growing town.

NEWS LETTER FROM TOWN MAYOR

To the Citaizens of The Town of Appomattox:

The regular meeting of the Town Council was held Monday, Jan. 16, at 7:30 P. M. in the town office. The regular order of business was transacted.

One of the very important items on the agenda was a very lengthy discussion concerning the proper maintenance of the Town Dump. The town employees have made a most diligent effort to see that it is properly maintained. I plead with all of you fine people to please be careful in the event you have any trash yourself to be sure and go all the way into the dumping area before dumping any trash. I have also received numerous complaints lately concerning trash that has been blown off trucks while en route to the dump, so please everyone who does any of their own hauling be careful and see that this does not occur again. The town employees have been instructed to see that all trash on the dump is burned at the proper time in order to avoid any embarrassment to anyone please see that no fires are set while you are dumping any trash.

The Ordinance Committe is continuing their work on the new town Code and I feel that within the very near future their work will be completed and we will have the new Code published.

Recently, I have noticed a lot of trash and paper which has been thrown on the town streets. In order for us to maintain a clean and neat town we need the full cooperation of you fine citizens. In the future let's everyone be more mindful and deposit paper in the trash cans instead of on the streets and walks.

Your counsel and advice on all public matters is welcomed at all times. Sincerely,

C. T. Moses, Jr.,
Mayor, Town of Appomattox.
